Elections

Contested election 23 November

The nomination period for the elections below closed at 4pm on 26 October.

Divisional Boards

MEDICAL SCIENCES BOARD

- One person from among the externally-funded research staff who are members of the Faculty of Biochemistry, the Faculty of Clinical Medicine, the Faculty of Physiological Sciences and the Faculty of Psychological Studies, elected jointly by the members of the Faculty of Biochemistry, the Faculty of Clinical Medicine, the Faculty of Physiological Sciences and the Faculty of Psychological Studies to serve until the start of MT 2025

This election will be contested and the result determined by e-ballot of the members of the above-named faculties of the Medical Sciences Division. An email with further instructions was sent to eligible voters on Wednesday 8 November, using the email addresses provided in the electronic register of Congregation (NB with few exceptions, notably clinical staff, this will be the work address ending 'ox.ac.uk'). Candidates' statements will be published online and in this issue of the Gazette. Voters may wish to read these statements before completing their electronic vote. The voting period will close at 4pm on Thursday, 23 November.

The following nominations have been received:

Professor Nele Demeyere, MSc KU Leuven, PhD Birm, Faculty of Psychological Studies (Nuffield Department of Clinical Neurosciences)

Nominated by:

Helen Christian, St Anne's, Faculty of Physiological Sciences

Masud Husain, New College, Faculty of Physiological Sciences

Katharine Smith, Faculty of Clinical Medicine

Kevin Talbot, Pembroke, Faculty of Clinical Medicine

Kate Watkins, St Anne's, Faculty of Psychological Studies

Candidate statement

I have been an externally funded researcher most of my academic career, from initial postdoctoral positions onto moving to a Principal Investigator role with external medical charity funding from the Stroke Association in 2015 and 2019 and now holding a senior research fellowship funded by an NIHR advanced fellowship award. I was

Director of Undergraduate admissions at EP (2016–2022), and in that position served on the EP departmental Teaching Policy Committee and ADCOM over those 6 years. I moved from Experimental Psychology to NDCN in 2022, thereby now having experience in two of the departments within MSD. Whilst the MSD board rightly has representation from some of the most senior members of the division, I believe I could add valuable new perspectives as a relatively early stage Principal Investigator.

The research reputation of our division and university depends in large part on externally funded researchers, who seem to experience both the best and worst parts of being in academia: the intellectual freedom to focus on truly valuable and important medical research with the insecurity of short term contracts and fixed term positions. It is key that the voices of externally funded research staff are represented at all levels of governance in the university, and I would be honoured to be that voice on the Medical Sciences Divisional board.

Professor Philip W Fowler, MA MSc Camb, PhD UCL, Faculty of Clinical Medicine (Experimental Medicine, Nuffield Department of Medicine)

Nominated by:

Christiana Allen, Faculty of Clinical Medicine

Frances Ashcroft, Trinity, Faculty of Physiological Sciences

Philip C Biggin, Lady Margaret Hall, Faculty of Biochemistry

David Eyre, Faculty of Clinical Medicine

Syma Khalid, St Anne's, Faculty of Biochemistry

Elena Seiradake, Somerville, Faculty of Biochemistry

Nicole Stoesser, Faculty of Clinical Medicine

A Sarah Walker, Faculty of Clinical Medicine

Candidate statement

Oxford can be a confusing complex place with many roles devolved to departments and divisions. Having been in the Medical Sciences Division for 17 years I've experienced many of them; first as a Postdoc in Biochemistry for ten years, then in NDM as a URL and latterly an Associate Professor based at the John Radcliffe Hospital. Before moving to Oxford I obtained an undergraduate degree in Physics then a PhD in Chemistry; an unusual yet increasingly typical path taken by biomedical researchers. Furthermore, I've lectured, tutored, examined, supervised DPhils, sat on committees and helped launch a start-up company and my research has spanned molecular simulation, citizen science, machine learning, genetics and antimicrobial resistance.

The Medical Sciences Board has a wide range of functions and powers, including developing and proposing strategic plans for the Division as a whole. Were I to be elected to the MSD Board from the constituency of externally-funded research staff I would seek to bring my interdisciplinary perspective which, I hope, would complement the extensive experience and expertise the Board already has.
