Council

- One member of Congregation elected by Congregation from members of the faculties in the Divisions of Humanities and of Social Sciences, to serve until the start of MT 2026 [vice Professor Aditi Lahiri]

The following nominations have been received:

Nandini Gooptu, BA Calcutta, PhD Camb, St Antony's, Department of International Development

Nominated by:

Professor David Gellner, All Souls, Anthropology and Museum Ethnography
 Professor Christopher Gerry, St Antony's, Global and Area Studies
 Dr Nayanika Mathur, Wolfson, Global and Area Studies
 Professor Ankhi Mukherjee, Wadham, English Language and Literature
 Professor Timothy Power, St Antony's, Global and Area Studies
 Professor Diego Sanchez-Ancochea,

St Antony's, International Development
 Professor Julia Smith, All Souls, History
 Professor Nikita Sud, Wolfson, International Development

Candidate statement:

Oxford faces a number of challenges that will require a rethinking of many of our strategies, structures and practices. In this critical period, I will advocate in Council an approach that emphasises the impact of change on our working lives and our students. In nearly three decades at Oxford, I have gained an understanding of the experience of work in various contexts and at different career stages, which I shall bring to bear on Council deliberations.

Significant financial pressures will affect our academic resources and the working conditions of both permanent and fixed-term staff. The climate crisis necessitates a change in our work practices and the adoption of new technology for overseas research and collaborations, and much else. EDI matters have assumed an urgency for both staff and students.

These are but a few of the issues that will affect us all and require strategies alive to the needs of students and staff, that I am well placed to represent. I teach graduates and undergraduates across several departments and faculties (International Development, Area Studies, Politics, History). I work both as a sole researcher and in a team with external funding. I have been Head of Department, and have had a variety of student and staff-facing roles and academic administration responsibilities, ranging from Director of Graduate Studies and Senior Tutor to membership of the University's Personnel Committee, Research Staff Working Group, Equality and Diversity Unit, Visitation Board, Grievance Committee and the Conference of Colleges Steering Committee and Appeals Tribunal.

Professor Helen Margetts, BSc Brist, MSc PhD LSE, Mansfield, Oxford Internet Institute

Nominated by:

Professor Helen Mountfield, Principal of Mansfield, Law
 Professor Roger Goodman, Master of St Anthony's, Anthropology
 Professor Ros Ballaster, Mansfield, English
 Professor Rebecca Eynon, Education/Internet Institute
 Professor Louise Fawcett, St Catherine's, Politics and International Relations
 Professor Desmond King, Nuffield, Politics and International Relations
 Professor Melinda Mills, Nuffield, Sociology
 Dr Vicki Nash, Oxford Internet Institute
 Professor Tim Power, St Antony's, Social Sciences
 Professor Jared Tanner, Exeter, Mathematics

Candidate statement:

I am Professor of Society and the Internet (from 2004) and Professorial Fellow at Mansfield College. From 2011 to 2018 I was Director of the Oxford Internet Institute, a multi-disciplinary department in the Social Sciences Division. Before I came to Oxford I was UCL's first political scientist and the Director of the School of Public Policy. As a social scientist with a background in computer science and mathematics, I have a keen interest in methodological innovation and research that crosses disciplinary boundaries. From 2018 I have directed the public policy programme of research at the Alan Turing Institute for data science and AI, where we work with policymakers to maximise the potential of data-driven technologies for public good.

Having spent more than 15 years as Head of Department or Programme Director, I have wide experience of academic leadership and hiring, supporting, mentoring and managing researchers at all career stages. I would like now to take my experience to the wider stage of the University Council, for example bringing awareness of the needs of people working on the ground to tackle longstanding issues of career progression and contract stability. My fields of research are demographically narrow - I care passionately about issues of equality, diversity and inclusion, and am excited by the prospect of tackling them across the University. As well as my longstanding and wide-ranging track record of social science research, I would bring to Council my experience of multi-disciplinary research spanning all Divisions of the University.

Professor Sophie Marnette, Lic UL Brussels, MA Oxf, PhD Berkeley, Balliol, Faculty of Medieval and Modern Languages

Nominated by:

Professor Kate Blackmon, Merton, Saïd Business School
 Professor Mishtooni Bose, Christ Church, English Language and Literature
 Professor Danny Dorling, St Peter's, Geography and the Environment
 Professor Cécile Fabre, All Souls, Philosophy
 Gillian Hamnett, Brasenose, University Administration
 Dr David Johnson, St Antony's, Education
 Professor Martin Maiden, Hertford, Zoology
 Professor Helen Swift, St Hilda's, Medieval and Modern Languages
 Professor William Whyte St John's, History
 Dr Sam Wolfe, St Catherine's, Linguistics, Philology and Phonetics

Candidate statement:

From being the president of student representatives at the Université Libre de Bruxelles, to my graduate years in Berkeley, and then being a member of college and faculty committees in Cambridge and Oxford, I have always been involved in the governance of universities and dedicated to their fair and democratic working. I have never been afraid to ask tough questions, especially when I was on Council as Junior Proctor. In my departing oration, just before lockdown, I remarked: "[...] alongside this narrative of success, there is also a narrative of challenge, and lessons to be learnt... The main challenge here is: does our University have the means of its ambitions while also being able to address its core needs? And therefore what should our core priorities really be? Indeed, in building possible future narratives, we should have the courage, flexibility and humility to change course if things do not go according to plan." This is truer than ever as we prepare to transition to a new VC, a new strategic plan, and some old and new challenges (eg investment in research and teaching, welfare, pensions, affordability to live, work and study in Oxford). Decisions need to be made and communicated in a transparent way in order for people to engage with them and support needs to be expressed not only in words but also in actions in order for all people to feel empowered in our vibrant and increasingly diverse university community.

- One member of Congregation, not necessarily being members of any division and not in any case being nominated in a divisional capacity, who shall be elected by Congregation, to serve until the start of MT 2026 [vice Tania Boyt]

The following nominations have been received:

Professor Proochista Ariana, SM Harvard, DPhil Oxf, Mansfield, Medicine

Nominated by:

Helen Mountfield QC, Principal of Mansfield

Professor Patricia Daley, Jesus, Geography and Environment

Professor Adrian Hill, Magdalen, Medicine

Professor Matt Jarvis, St Cross, Physics

Professor Kevin Marsh, St Cross, Medicine

Professor Sarah Rowland Jones, Christ Church, Medicine

Lucinda Rumsey, Mansfield, English

Professor Diego Sanchez-Ancochea, St Antony's, International Development

Dr Rebecca Surender, Green Templeton, Social Policy and Intervention

Professor Helen Swift, St Hilda's, Medieval and Modern Languages

Candidate statement:

As a member of the collegiate University since 2003, I have benefited from inspiring colleagues, a nurturing environment, and extraordinary students. I have been afforded the opportunity to contribute to an increasingly diverse community of global health leaders. I work continually to realise the University's strategic priority of fostering inclusive and supportive environments to further enhance diversity and innovation. As course director for the MSc in International Health and Tropical Medicine, I have extended opportunities for access to under-represented students from LMICs with tremendous potential to effect positive change in their contexts through securing more than £3.6m in graduate scholarships. I recognise that recruiting students from disadvantaged backgrounds necessitates efforts to support them to succeed. This involves creative curriculum design and teaching innovations. I am immensely proud to have been recognised by Oxford SU with six teaching awards to date, including the Special Recognition Award, and by MSD with a Major Educator Award. I share my passion for teaching through Divisional teacher training workshops as well as workshops across our Oxford Tropical Medicine sites in Thailand (MORU and SMUR), Vietnam (OUCRU) and Kenya (KEMRI). As a current member of the University's Education Committee, I advocate for graduate education, encourage multidisciplinary conversations and help inform educational policy decisions. I am also involved in efforts to address attainment gaps, a significant challenge to meaningful inclusion efforts.

On Council, I will draw on my experience to advocate for accountability on commitments to diversity, inclusion, educational innovation, and the well-being of our community.

Dr Edward H Bispham, MA DPhil Oxf, Brasenose/St Anne's, Classics/Ancient History

Nominated by:

Professor Rhiannon Ash, Merton, Classics

Professor Nick Barber, Trinity, Law

Dr Anna Clark, Christ Church, Classics

Professor Katherine Clarke, St Hilda's, Classics

Professor Roger Crisp, St Anne's, Philosophy

Professor Cécile Fabre, All Souls, Politics

Professor Ian McBride, Hertford, History

Professor Simon Shogry, Brasenose, Philosophy

Professor Andrew Wilson, All Souls, Archaeology

Candidate statement:

I believe that Oxford stands the best chance of achieving its full potential, and growing as a diverse and inclusive community, when its members engage actively with its governance, and do so on behalf of the interests of Congregation and the wider population of institution. My experience as a Proctor provided me with insight into the full spectrum of the workings of the University and its governance, as well as offering some instructive, and sometimes difficult, lessons. I have experience of sitting on Council and of being a University trustee. Just as importantly, my tenure brought home strongly to me how the University is an aggregate of interactions within a very complex range of hard-working individuals: from those who maintain facilities or mow the Parks, to those who support examinations and research grants, to those who sequence genes, look for exo-planets and explicate Schiller. Finally, I have been lucky enough to spend more than two decades engaging with students, without whom there would be no University. The nature of the student experience, from the tutorial to the research group in the lab, in Colleges and Faculties, is central, whether it manifests in pedagogy, sport or welfare. I aim to draw on my direct experience of the enormous range of constituencies and contributions which make up the University. I believe this would usefully inform the opportunity which a seat on Council would give me to contribute to the debates through which the University will confront a very challenging future.

Lukasz Bohdan, MA Exe, Mag Jagiellonian, MBA Open, Assurance Directorate

Nominated by:

Baroness Royall of Blaisdon,
Principal of Somerville
Tony Brett, Corpus Christi, Medical Sciences/IT Services
Alison Broadby, Humanities Divisional Office
Professor Chris Conlon, Oriel, Medicine
Professor Sue Dopson, Green Templeton, Saïd Business School
Dr Anne Edwards, Brasenose
Dr Tracy Gale, St Hilda's, Mathematical, Physical and Life Sciences Divisional Office
Graham Ingram, Assurance Directorate/IT Services
Richard Ovenden, Balliol, History
Professor Anne Trefethen, St Cross, Engineering Science

Candidate statement:

My role as Director of Assurance is to support academic excellence. I believe that focusing on Oxford's core purpose of research and teaching, respecting local autonomy, and adopting a holistic, participative approach is what matters when delivering professional services. I demonstrated my pragmatic approach and my ability to collaborate for the common good most recently while leading on our COVID-19 response.

My experience covers 20 years as a Board advisor, governor/trustee and non-executive holding senior leaders to account in the private, public and charity sectors, including local government, the NHS, and academia. I have served on and supported numerous Boards, governing bodies and committees (e.g. IT/Digital, Estates, Finance, and Personnel). At Oxford, I support the Audit and Scrutiny Committee and have served on the Saïd Business School's subsidiary Board, the Saïd Finance Committee, and the Subsidiaries Subcommittee.

I am standing for the Council because I believe that professional services need to reach out and work closely with divisions, departments, faculties and Colleges to support them in delivering the University's academic mission. I also believe that Oxford's principle of democratic self-governance is one of its greatest strengths.

It would be a privilege to represent my constituency on the Council. It would further my understanding of Oxford so that I can support academic colleagues effectively. If elected, I would bring my professional insights to bear on the issues that affect Oxford and would champion the views of the Congregation, constructively challenging the University to do its best for all its constituencies.

Nominated by:

Dame Helen Ghosh, Principal of

Professor Patricia Clavin, Worcester, History
Professor Tim Coulson, Jesus,
Biology
Professor Patrick Grant,
St Catherine's, Materials
Professor Dame Angela McLean,
All Souls
Professor Dame Sarah Whatmore,
Keble, Geography

Candidate statement:

This is both an exciting and challenging time for the University. Research across the whole university during the pandemic has highlighted the critical role of Oxford and other research-intensive universities in addressing the most pressing issues facing the nation and the world. There are great opportunities to build on our existing strengths and create capacity in new areas. But we also face difficult challenges, perhaps the most important being supporting the people who work here, our human capital, the University's most precious resource. The Oxford area is one of the most expensive regions of the country to live in causing significant problems for both academic and non-academic staff; the continuing saga of USS pension reforms raises numerous worrying issues, both now and for the future; and we need to translate the University's commitments on equality and diversity into more measures that make a difference to people in their working lives. We also face challenges in improving our students' experience of Oxford and learning lessons from the pandemic in exploring new ways of teaching and interacting. And we have hard choices to make in implementing the University's excellent net zero and sustainability goals. I would relish the opportunity of helping the University address these challenges and opportunities by joining Council.

I am a biologist by background and am currently Director of the interdisciplinary Oxford Martin School within the Social Science Division.
